

It's That Time of Year Again!!!! 12th Annual Barker Way/Barker Drive Block Party • Bar-B-Q • Potluck

This year, I pledge not to make up crazy events to get people more interested in attending the party. So, I will NOT advertise things like:

FREE CARNIVAL RIDES FOR THE KIDS!!!

After all, that's not fair to the kids. I mean, they don't read the fine print, and besides, there's no room for stuff like that. There's also no room for:

FREE TETHERED HOT AIR BALLOON RIDES!!! SEE YOUR HOUSE AND NEIGHBORHOOD FROM 500 FEET!!!

You have to admit, something like that would be pretty cool, but get serious. Here's something else that won't happen:

LIVE MUSIC BY: SANDY and the CLASSICS!!!

OK, a little insider's nostalgia. But if you grew up & and went to High School in San Diego in the '60s, you will remember this group. They even played at our prom at the Hotel Del. Sadly, they must be in their 90s by now. Nope, won't see them on Barker Drive.

Menu Features:

16oz Bar-B-Qd USDA Prime Cut Rib-Eye Steaks

You can buy them at Costco. If you do, make sure you bring extra for the host. I like mine medium-well, preferably marinated.

Specially Prepared Smoked Alaskan Salmon

This is the first thing on this list that even resembles the truth. I'll be smoking #@%&*!# fish all week.

Hamburgers, Hot Dogs and Bratwurst

This part is true also. Burgers, Dogs and Brats with buns and the trimmings will be here. Hot off the grill.

IMPORTANT DETAILS

This part really is true, so pay attention.

As in previous years, this is a POTLUCK, so bring food.

(Suggestions from the Host: Chili. I STILL don't know who it is, but somebody has a great recipe for chili. Really great chili goes with anything and really makes the meal. Macaroni salad. Seren never lets me have macaroni salad. And brownies. I love the brownies. Chocolate chip cookies with nuts. You know, the soft center kind. Just some ideas. Everybody always brings really great food! Just some suggestions.)

VERY IMPORTANT: Bring your own chair, serving utensils for the food you bring and tableware (in case you don't like plastic & paper plates)

Critical Dates/Times

Sunday, September 4th, 2005 - Starts about 7:00 PM

Where: The end of Barker Drive
